

Health & Safety Policy Statement of The Association of Ex-Round Tablers' Clubs (41 Club)

41 Club regards the promotion of health, safety and welfare as an essential objective. Our policy is to provide and maintain, so far as is reasonably practicable, a safe and healthy environment for all our members and visitors. This policy has been developed to comply with the requirements of The Health and Safety at Work etc Act 1974.

Overall responsibility for Health and Safety resides with:

Richard A Matthews – National President

The main objectives of this policy are to:

- Provide an organisation and adequate arrangements to effectively manage and monitor the Associations Health and Safety arrangements.
- Ensure adequate resources, including the provision of competent personnel, are available to implement this policy.
- Ensure a systematic approach to risk assessment and control.
- Provide a safe and healthy working environment including safe systems of work.
- Provide all such information, instruction and training as is necessary.
- Increase the awareness of all members to their responsibility for the health and safety of themselves and others.
- Provide suitable arrangements for consultation on matters relating to health, safety and welfare.

The Policy will be continuously maintained in order to reflect changes within the Associations operation. To ensure this, the “Policy” and its “Procedures” will be reviewed regularly and amended as necessary.

41 Club endeavours to progressively improve its health and safety performance and therefore requires and expects the full participation and co-operation of all members.

The National Council gives their full endorsement to this Policy, supporting all those who undertake to carry it out.
